

1. Login

- a. Positive
 - i. The user can login with correct credentials
 - 1. If the user can then the test passes
 - ii. Acceptance Criteria:
 - 1. All fields have an input
 - 2. The input from the fields is compared to the existing database
- b. Negative
 - i. The web page displays an error message if the required boxes are not filled in or the credentials do not exist in our database
 - 1. If the web page displays an error message when appropriate the test passes
 - ii. Acceptance Criteria:
 - 1. If the credentials are invalid or if the fields are not filled in then the web page displays an error message
 - 2. When the input is valid and the user can login there will be no error message displayed
- c. Environment
 - i. The login page of our website

2. Registration

- a. Positive
 - i. The user can register
 - 1. If the user can successfully register then login with the same credentials the test passes
 - ii. Acceptance Criteria:
 - 1. All fields have an input
 - 2. The input from the fields is posted to the database
 - 3. The user can login with the created credentials
- b. Negative
 - i. If the credentials the user entered already exist in the database then display an error message or if the fields are not filled in
 - 1. If the web page displays an error message when appropriate the test passes
 - ii. Acceptance Criteria:
 - 1. If the fields are not properly filled in display an error message
 - 2. If the input from the fields already exists in the database display an error message
 - 3. If the input is valid and the input does not already exist in the database then there should be no error message displayed
- c. Environment

- i. The registration page of the website

3. Logging Out

- a. Positive

- i. The user can successfully log out
 - 1. If the user is successfully logged out and a log out message is displayed then the test passes
- ii. Acceptance Criteria:
 - 1. When the user clicks the logout button the user is successfully logged out
 - 2. A logout message is displayed

- b. Negative

- i. If the user is already not logged in then display a message that they are not logged in
 - 1. If the error message is displayed at the appropriate time the test passes
- ii. Acceptance Criteria:
 - 1. If the user is not logged in and selects the logout button the web page will display an error message
 - 2. The web page does not display an error message when the user is actually logged in

- c. Environment: Any web page of our website